MRS. TAFT ILL IN NEW YORK

Recurrence of Nervous Trouble
She Has Had Before.

CHANGE IN HUSBAND'S PLANS

Executive Fills Engagement to Speak to Railway Trainmen in Harrisburg, Pa., but Cuts His Stay There Short.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 15.—The unfortunate recurrence of Mrs. Taft's nervous trouble while at the home of Henry W. Taft, in New York, caused a curtailment in the program arranged for the president's stay in Harrisburg as the guest of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

After delivering his address to the trainmen's convention the president returned to his private car and left for New York in order that he might be with Mrs. Taft. It had been Mrs.
Taft's intention to accompany the president here, but her condition compelled her to remain in New York.

The president was at first inclined to cancel the engagement, but later decided to deliver his address to the convention and return at once.

The physicians assured the president that Mrs. Taft's illness was not serious and he feared that a sudden

MRS. W. H. TAFT.

cancellation of his engagement might give ground to reports as to her condition. It was the president's intention to return from New York to Washington today, but this plan is entirely contingent upon Mrs. Taft's wishes.

She will probably stay in New York for three or four days and if she desires the president to remain with her, he will do so unless affairs in Washington make his presence there imperative.

Dr. Evans says Mrs. Taft's illness is nothing at all dangerous.

YPSI. MEN SAVE YOUNG COUPLE FROM DROWNING

Sunday afternoon as Stephen Dunlap and Ray DeNike were in their boat house near Lowell, the former, chancing to look toward the river, saw a capsized canoe and a head in the water. Running around the boathouse, the men loosed the motor launch and got upon the scene as quickly as they could. They found a girl who after much struggling, on her part, was hauled into the boat while the man in the water was towed behind to the shore. The man was rigged up in dry clothes from a supply in the boat house, and a friend who was happily near provided the girl with a dry coat.

It seems that McCready, a man recently in the employ of the Bell phone company in Ann Arbor and about to work now for the Edison people, and a young lady from Ann Arbor went out canoeing. While in the middle of the river the young lady was seized with the desire to wave to friends on the shore and confidently rose to do so. A hasty precipitation into the water followed and a not altogether surprising consequence, and the two were about to go down for the third time when rescued by Dunlap and DeNike.

FIREBUGS BURN "Q" YARDS

Barstow Scene of Sixth Mysterious Fire on Road's Property.

Sterling, Ill., May 15.—The stockyards and several boarding cars at Barstow were destroyed by fire. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

This makes the sixth fire of mysterious nature that has occurred to Chicago, Burlington & Quincy property in the western part of Whiteside county and the northern part of Rock Island county. The depot at Hillsdale was destroyed a week ago, and a new depot erected on the same site was burned Wednesday night. Two depots at Garden Plain have been burned recently. The destruction is said to be due to enmity against the company for hiring foreign section men.

and Princess Maud. The Princess Royal will have powerful batteries of fourteen and thirteen inch guns.

MOTHERS' DAY OBSERVED AT M.E. CHURCH

Mothers' day was appropriately observed yesterday at the Methodist church. A special song leaflet prepared for the occasion was used in the congregational singing and Mrs.
Crawford and Mr. Becker sang the beautiful gospel song, "My Mother's Bible," in a very effective manner. Mr.
Leeson, the pastor, preached on "God's Tenderest Promise" from the text, "As one whom his mother com-forteth—so will I comfort you," Isaiah 66. 13. He said:

"Miss Anna Jarvis lost her very dear mother and in her loneliness and yearning of gratitude for a mother's ministry conceived the idea of an annual festival for the especial recognition of our mother living or dead. The idea was caught up with a remarkable enthusiasm. It has spread into the schools and churches and made the subject of special proclamations by governors.

"It has a most appropriate and beautiful relationship to our religious faith.
Religion does not stand over against our human emotions and loves—it deepens them and nourishes them.
Love of God and love of mother and love of home and country are all part of that one same great holy passion of love. They spring from the same fountain head and minister to one another.

"Mother home and heaven are a gentle and holy triumvirate which hold sacred supremacy within the heart of mankind. They are the three words about which cluster the deepest tenderest emotions of life and it is the emotions and feelings and affections of life which control it more than any other of the forces which act upon it.
We magnify reason in our day and boast of our super-excellent intelligence and this is a mighty materialistic age but more potent than all is the giving to the world a mother and rule in the heart. Mother, home and heaven are the supreme heart words.

"It is a gracious privilege and benefaction to us all to recall the blessing of mother love. This is a love that never fails—its bands are not severed by the years and unbroken by death itself. Motherhood is the triumphant estate of womankind perhaps needs exalting in our day. Our recent versatile president deemed it worthy of his attention and high commendation. When Napoleon was asked what in his estimation was the greatest need of his day he replied "Mothers." And the imperative need of every age and land is for noble and worthy mothering.

"On the physical side, the scientists tell us, a human mother is the very climax and the highest mark of all the creative processes which have been at work forming this world and its occupants. The biologists divide the living creation into certain great orders or grades, beginning at the very lowest order and rising step by step to the very highest and this highest order is called the mammalia—the mother order of life and a human mother stands at the very apex of the order of mammalia—the consummation and final triumph of all natures wondrous processes is discovered standing at the beautiful portals of the estate of motherhood.

"Through the portals of birth there enters into the world not only that unspeakable blessing a little child but there is the moment and the means of the re-birth of humanity in the giving to the world a mother and thus the hour of birth is a two-fold blessing to the world—the birth of a child and the birth of a mother and which is the greater blessing it would be hard to determine. And in all nature is thus seemingly pointing the way to maternity as the crowning glory of all her masterful processes.

"Let us thank God this morning that there is such a thing in the world as mother-love—it is a great saving influence which is everywhere abroad —saving the world from utter abandon to a cold and selfish worldly spirit.
No man can utterly abandon himself to the lower elements of his nature who has had a mother—he can never wholly break away from the memories of her love and deathless fidelity.

"There are in the Old Testament two passages which for comfort and matchless beauty charm our hearts.
The one is found in the 102 Psalm.
"Like as a Father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him, and the other is this text of the morning, 'As one whom his mother comforteth so will I comfort you,' and of the two it seems to me that the later is God's tenderest promise—fullest of the yearnings, and heart love of the Infinite one. There perhaps may be traced in the hunger of the human heart for a God of comfort and a God of love that tendency of the Papal church which we call Mary-olity—the worship of Mary.

"As one whom his mother comforteth—so will I comfort thee." How vivid and understandable is this figure. Every heart has felt the thrill

Death Visits Homes Of Ypsilantians

MRS. BOWERMAN DEAD—W. CRICH PASSES AWAY AT PONTIAC.

Mrs. David Bowerman.
The funeral of Mrs. David Bowerman whose death occurred Saturday, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her late home at 31 South Grove street.

Mrs. Bowerman, who was 66 years old, was born in Ypsilanti where her whole life has been spent. Her death was caused by a general breakdown from which she had been suffering for the past six months. She leaves a husband and two sons, Frank and Charles, both of this city, and a brother, W. H. Drake of Buffalo.

William Crich.
Word has been received from Pontiac of the death of William Crich, 48, a former resident of Ypsilanti which occurred Friday night after an illness of several months from cancer of the stomach. Mr. and Mrs. Crich lived in Ypsilanti about fifteen years ago. Mrs. Crich was formerly Miss Jennie Whiting of Milan. He leaves a wife and son, and two brothers, Fred of Bay City and Arthur of Canton. Mrs. Fred Basom of this city is a niece.

The funeral was held at his old home at St. Johns today.

CAUGHT UNDER LOGS

William Bergin, who is employed on one of the work cars of the D. & C. railway, narrowly escaped death in an accident Sunday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock. He was riding on one of the cars which were loaded with piles when the logs which were piled on the car began to slip and he was thrown with the logs down a steep embankment. Most of the ribs on his left side were broken and his arm badly crushed. The accident happened near the M. C. bridge just this side of Jackson. A Jackson physician was summoned and immediately bandaged up the wounds and he was brought to his home in this city on the 3:34 limited. He is reported doing as well as could be expected this morning.

Mr. Bergin seems to be rather unfortunate in his work for the D. & C.
& C. About six weeks ago he burned his hand severely while at work at the power house.

KAISER IS IN LONDON

Comes with Kaiserin to See Victoria Memorial Unveiled.

London, May 15.—The German imperial yacht Hohenzollern, escorted by two German cruisers and four British destroyers, arrived at Sheerness last evening. The Kaiser and Kaiserin were aboard, coming to attend the unveiling of the Victoria memorial on Tuesday.

As it is a state visit salutes were exchanged and all warships dressed ship. The emperor and empress are in London today.

YPSI SCOUTS HAVE A BIG DAY AT THE FLATS

Every condition on Saturday favored the Boy Scouts of Ypsilanti and that the field day on King's Flats was an entire success both scout masters and scouts and the interested other men are thoroughly agreed. The weather was bright and fair and thanks to Mr. King and his tenant, Mr. Hayden, the field was as desirable as the weather was propitious and presented a broad open place finely suited to the maneuvers. There was plenty of driftwood for fires which were kindled by groups here and there. One of the patrols had erected two shelter tents and these, with flags flying, marked the camp site.

Mr. Quirk had arrived right early on the grounds and gotten things ready for the contests. Later came 30 or 40 boys with numerous scout masters and others interested. Dinner was the first consideration. A fortunate few dined on fish which they had caught after arriving. The dinner finished, pictures were taken of the camp. Announcements were made about the Memorial Day celebrated in Detroit, where there will be a chance to win the pennant. Between 35 and 40 boys signified their willingness to report for training preparatory to this event. This settled, some of the scouts went into the water for a swim.

The scouts were divided into four squads and four 25-word messages were conveyed by wig-wagging from the boys on the hill to the boys in the valley. A tug of war followed and after the older boys had gone through the smaller boys competed. A series of relay races followed. Photographs were taken of the scouts while engaged in these contests. The boys then who had not already done so went for a dip in the Huron. Soon after this camp was broken and all made for home.

It had been a remarkable success and all interested feel themselves in debt to Mr. King and to others who contributed to this end. It was felt that the boy scouts were not the only debtors to the day, but that the men concerned were equally benefited by participating with all its features.

ESCAPED LUNATIC CAUSES EXCITEMENT ABOUT YPSILANTI

John Cody of Belleville, an escaped lunatic from one of the Detroit hospitals, aroused considerable excitement on the streets this morning and led the officers a merry but fruitless chase. Mr. Cody for a number of years has been subject to spells of insanity and has been confined at different times both in hospitals in Detroit and at St. Joseph's Retreat. A few days ago he made his escape and the officers in Detroit Ypsilanti and Belleville have been on his track but he has skillfully evaded them.

He was in Ypsilanti Sunday and returned to Belleville some time in the night when he broke in a store and smashed the typewriter and demolished things in general. He arrived in Ypsilanti again at 3:30 this morning and quietly slipped out at an early hour. It is thought that he boarded one of the outgoing trains and went to Wayne as a man of his description was reported as being there early this afternoon.

CITY OF MEXICO EXPECTS ATTACK

Likely to Come within Fortnight if Rebel Plans Prosper.

DEFENSE BOUND TO BE WEAK

Internal Uprising Is Practically Certain if Assault Is Made, and Rebel Sympathizers Have Imported Arms.

Mexico City, May 15.—The armistice arranged between the government and Figuerroa, commanding the rebels in Guerrero, has been broken and there is a strong possibility of an attack upon Mexico City within two weeks if the rebel plans materialize.

Miranda, leading 4,000 rebels, left Buena Vista for Iguala, which is fifteen miles distant. He expected that little trouble would be encountered in taking the town as the garrison there is small. The rebels are well armed. As telegraphic communication has been interrupted it is expected that it will be several days before news of the battle will reach here.

One report has it that there are 800 rebels at Buena Vista, 3,000 at Huiztaco, and 6,000 coming from Acapulco.
There are 2,000 more under the command of the Amazon La Neri. Her forces are stationed at Chilpancingo, awaiting reinforcements before attacking the town. There is a large number of women among La Neri's force and also a considerable number enlisted with Miranda as regular soldiers, who can shoot and ride almost as well as men.

Reports say that La Neri herself is worshipped by her men and comes of a high class family. She appears to be a natural leader and has absolute command of her forces.

It is acknowledged even in government circles here that if the city is attacked there will be an internal uprising to help the invaders. It is believed that there is a considerable number of army officers stationed here who are in communication with Madero and who when the word is given are ready to rise with their men against the government.

Besides this the police have been searching for a large consignment of arms known to have arrived here some weeks ago. They have been unable to find the arms, but it is known that they are for use against the government in case the city is attacked.

"As the garrison of Mexico City has been greatly depleted in order to send troops to various points in the republic where they are urgently needed, it seems impossible that Diaz will be able to make a strong opposition against a determined attack by a considerable army. Another serious menace is the fact that the rebels hold Huachinango, where are located the transmission lines that bring light and power to Mexico City, which they can shut off at pleasure if rebels desire to attack the city in darkness.

SON OF BAYARD DIES

Either Falls or Jumps from Window of Washington Hospital.

Washington, May 15.—Philip Bayard of Wilmington, Del., son of the late Thomas F. Bayard, secretary of state and ambassador to England under Cleveland, died at Garfield hospital. Coroner Nevitt has ordered an investigation.

Mr. Bayard has been a patient at the hospital since Friday. He either jumped or fell from the window of his room on the third floor to the second floor veranda where he was found in a semi-conscious condition. Careful examination failed to indicate that Mr. Bayard had received any serious injury from his fall, but at 5:30 a. m. he suddenly collapsed and died. His ailment had been diagnosed as uremic poisoning.

FOUR MEN ARE KILLED

Cars Catch Fire in Railway Wreck and Cremate One Victim.

White River Junction, Vt., May 15.— Four men were killed and three others injured when two freight trains met head-on at Devil Curve, about two miles south of this town. The wreckage caught fire, destroying some of the cars and burning the bodies of one of the victims.

The accident was on a single line of track operated jointly by the Central Vermont and the Boston and Maine railroad, a train of each company being in collision.

CLEAN JOURNALISM EXEMPLIFIED.

"Thirty years ago a newspaper's contents were extremely small, compared with the contents of the newspaper of today. This was due to the fact that newspaper facilities were in process of development; but in those days editors and publishers were glad to have their publications measured by the standard of their editorial championship, thoroughness and comprehensiveness, and not upon the basis of having carried so many thousand agate lines of advertising more than their contemporaries.

"We have now reached a point in this discussion where it is well to consider the fundamentals upon which the press in our own country was founded. It is patent that every editor should uphold the dignity of the press and maintain inviolate the true mission of the newspaper as a public servant in order to make journalism a growing power for good. The framers of our constitution in establishing the American nation had painfully learned and clearly foresaw that without a free press and free speech there could not be a free government. Thus we see the press is ineradicably woven into our governmental fabric, and that American journalism had its birth in and through the struggle for liberty and freedom. Consequently the publisher of the modern newspaper must ever remember the influence of the press upon the public mind and must exercise his function as precursor to old and young alike, in discussing all issues affecting the people. He must always champion every interest looking toward the benefit and well being of the majority, socially, politically, economically, and as readily challenge the usurper, demagogue and promoter of political intrigue.

"The news policy of clean journalism must be established through evolution rather than through revolution. The starting point of this reform must be in the great news distributing centers, and as we have confined our remarks to American journalism, New York city represents the objective point of this statement. Fully 90 per cent of the news reports of the great American press associations is made up from the press sheets of the New York daily papers. It is sent by telegraph, to the newspaper offices throughout the continent where it is accepted as a standard for news; and consequently as New York thinks, so thinks the American press. Give thought to the class of newspapers in our metropolis and all will agree that with one or two exceptions they are far from conservative.

"It was in the metropolis likewise that the comic sections of Sunday newspapers so destructive to the morals and manners of the youth originated, and the harmful influence that has been spread through this avenue alone in journalism is hard to measure. Self-respecting editors, however, have yielded to the universal cry against such prostitution of the press until many discarded these demoralizing and execrably colored sections entirely or so modified them that they are more in accord with propriety.

"The crusade for clean journalism came about through the logic of events and in response to the widespread desire for a wholesome, constructive daily newspaper. Even though there has been a great wave of reform on the part of sensational newspapers most of them have not yet met the public demand for the kind of newspaper contents that can be freely read in the home. Clean journalism preeminently fills the growing desire for wholesome news. It tells of upbuilding and progress in all human endeavor. It voices sane optimism and champions the good and right in civic, community, and world-wide interests and undertakings. It inculcates respect for law and order and allegiance to constituted authority. In short, it seeks only to build up, not to tear down, the social fabric, to promote every agency that makes for human enlightenment and betterment. As a result clean journalism is continually uncovering sources of news that have been overlooked or neglected.

"But reform in the news does not fully meet the need. The character of advertising accepted and the general business policy of the modern newspaper as well must be improved if the ideal in journalism is to be attained.

"Truth in Advertising.
"The elemental force of advertising we must term confidence. The merchant must have the confidence of the shopping public. To gain this he must tell the shoppers the truth about his merchandise. The newspaper and magazine publisher wants the confidence of both the reading public and the advertiser. To gain this he must reinstate his publication in the good graces of public opinion.

"With this general statement of the proposition, we are now arrived at the point where we might propose a plan of retaining this confidential advertising community of interest. It is this. If the advertiser with a marketable product will tell the truth about his goods, 75 per cent of the battle for business is gained.

"Advertising has several standpoints even after it gets into the class known as good advertising. To the advertising writer good advertising is a sequence of enticing phrases; to a printer good advertising is a well displayed advertisement; to the seller, a good advertisement is one that brings him trade; but to the buyer, good advertising is an advertisement that is backed by moral quality, and that is the kind and the only kind of advertising that has the right to go into homes. Almost every newspaper reader watches the advertisements, but each day finds growing distrust, and the ability of printers' ink to influence buyers grows less and less. You all know that there is a sound basis for the readers' suspicion. Consequently it devolves upon those who wish to have the trust of their readers to see that the suspicion is done away with. Get the advertisers to tell the truth."

TOO MUCH MONEY—FREE WILL OFFERINGS ONLY

11 Kings 12:1-16—April 22
"Then the people rejoiced, for they offered willingly."—1 Chron. 23:3.

SIXTEEN years passed after the incidents of our previous study and found King Joash in his twenty-third year. Already he had made suggestions to the priests respecting the repairs of the temple, which was considerably dilapidated, because the people were still half-hearted in the worship of Jehovah. The influence of the idolatry of surrounding nations, was still upon them. Some of them still burned incense upon the altars of Baal.

Priests Poor Business Men

King Joash found that allowing the priests to collect the money and there-with to repair the temple showed no results. Not every good-hearted man has executive ability. The record does not tell that the priests were dishonest in the use of the money collected for their affairs. Nor does it say that they spent the money unwisely. Possibly the people did not have confidence in the priests and did not give so freely on that account. However, the King noted the fact that the temple continued to be dilapidated and called for the priests and said to them, "Why repair ye not the breaches of the temple?" The answer of the priests was not given, but the King's mandate was, "Now, therefore, take no more money from your acquaintances." The King passed over the matter as lightly and courteously as possible, without charging the priests with embezzlement or neglect.

Church Begging Doing Harm.
There is a lesson in this matter for us. The people like to see results. (1) They want to know that monies that are donated for benevolent purposes are not all absorbed for office expenses. (2) Voluntary offerings have the approval of both God and men, rather than offerings that are imposed, coerced, begged, wheedled from saints and sinners. Everybody who gives to the Lord's cause is advantaged thereby; he not only forwards a benevolent cause, but stimulates and cultivates generosity in his own heart. It was our Lord who said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive"—where the giving is willing and voluntary.

Church begging is undoubtedly doing great harm. The remark has been made that the chief item of religion in some churches is begging for money—private solicitation, and also public solicitation, by the passing around of the collection box. Church fairs, church suppers, grab-bags, etc., etc., are still more reprehensible than the collection box and private solicitation. Some one has called such efforts the "milk of the goats." The Lord's people are supposed to be sheep; the world's people, goats.

Breaks in the Temple Wall

Viewing the spiritual temple we perceive that, outwardly, as represented by the magnificent churches of metropolitan cities, nothing more could be desired than what is now enjoyed. Describing the Church conditions of our day, the Scriptures portray our condition under the figure of the Laodicean Church, thus: "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot; I would thou wert cold or hot. So, then, because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of My mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked, I counsel thee to buy of Me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich, and white, and as thou art, I counsel thee to open thine eyes, and thou shalt be able to see."—Rev. 3:15-18.

It is from the spiritual standpoint, therefore, that the temple of today needs to have repairs. Outwardly, the Church is rich; spiritually, she is poor. The majority of her educated, including ministers, have abandoned all faith in the Bible as the Word of God. Yet they are not known as infidels, but by the less harsh term, "Higher Critics," "Evolutionists."

The Duty of the Hour

Noting the spiritual impairment of the House of God, the Church, all who love the Lord and who worship Him should do their part, make their contribution, toward the improvement of these spiritual conditions. It is not to be left wholly in the hands of the clerical or priestly class. The people in general are to appreciate the situation and each delight to do his part in the rebuilding of the spiritual walls of Zion. Those spiritual walls consist of "the faith that was once delivered to the saints."

Scriptural Evidences That Are Astonishing—No One Can Afford to Be Without the Knowledge.

We do our friends a valuable service when we call their attention to the valuable book entitled, "THE TIME IS AT HAND," in which are given many Scriptural evidences to prove where we are on the stream of time. "Men's hearts are failing them for fear," and many of the leading thinkers are proposing remedies to better conditions. The Scriptures assure us that man's extremity will be God's opportunity, and this book holds out an anchor to those who fear the wave of unrest now spreading over the world.

The honest heart confesses that it is at a loss for an explanation of transpiring events. While we refer to this as the BRAIN AGE and the Age of ENLIGHTENMENT, nevertheless many realize that we are fast approaching a crisis which is wrapped in darkness owing to the present world-wide social, religious and political unrest.

As though by instinct the whole creation, while it groans and travails in pain together, waits for longs for and hopes for the DAY, calling it the "GOLDEN AGE"; yet men grope blindly because not aware of the great Jehovah's gracious purposes. And to his wondering creatures, looking at the length and breadth, the height and depth of the love of God, surpassing all expectation. He explains: "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord; for as the heavens are higher than the earth so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." Isa. 55:8, 9.

"Snapping" the Caribou.

In this country when you see a tree, you know perfectly well it isn't a tree; it's the horns of a caribou lying down. An unusually large affair of branches appeared on an island in the channel to Aylmer. I landed, camera in hand; there was a tuft of herbage 30 yards from him; another 20 yards. I crawled to the first and made a snapshot; then, flat as a rug, sneaked my way to the one I estimated at 20 yards. The click of the camera alarmed the buck; he rose, tried the wind, then lay down again, giving me another glance. Having used all the films, I now stood up. The caribou dashed away, and by a slight limp showed that he was in sanctuary. The 20-yard estimate proved too long; it was only 16 yards, which put my picture a little out of focus.—Ernest Thompson Seton in Scribner's.

Simple Cleanliness.

It is a West end doctor, says the London Week End, who has made a new discovery regarding children who speak imperfectly. One boy, says the physician, had lost his voice for years. Mr. Stewart, the doctor in question, examined him for growth of the larynx, but finding none, insisted that the boy should use a toothbrush every day. In about six months the hoarseness disappeared and the voice came back. Simple cleanliness is a remedy for many such cases, while others, such as lispings, are often due to imitation of a parent or teacher who has this affliction.

Traditions of Mother Shipton.

Of all British prophets, Mother Shipton is beyond doubt the most celebrated. She was, in fact, all that a prophet and witch should be. In strange contrast to the serious and scientific nostradamus. The day she was born the sky became dark and gloomy and, according to her biographer, "beheld not nothing for half an hour but flames, thundering after a most hideous manner." Her personal appearance, described by her admiring biographer in 1662, is scarcely flattering: "Her physiognomy was so misshapen that it is altogether impossible to express fully in words, or for the most ingenious to line her in colors, though many persons of eminent qualifications in that line have often attempted it, but without success."—Metropolitan Magazine.

The Largest Shot.

The largest and heaviest projectile in the world is the huge five-foot armor-piercing shell fired from the United States government's great 16-inch rifle. This huge shell of steel can be hurled a distance of 20 miles or more and weighs 2,400 pounds. The cost of firing one shot is nearly $1,000.

A few drops of lemon juice in the water in which rice is boiled will help to keep the kernels whole. Plenty of water is another requisite.

The season is at hand when the neighbors' hens constitute a perplexing problem with the one who takes pride in a well kept flower or vegetable garden.

A few days ago a shipload of dressed sheep were sold on the San Francisco market in prime condition. They were brought under refrigeration from Australia, a distance of 7,000 miles, and paid a duty of 5 cents a pound.

While fish make their homes in water they must have oxygen, which is always found in fresh water. It is a lack of this element that causes the death of fish in many a shallow pond and lake during the winter season when the water freezes to a considerable depth and prevents its purification by contact with the air.

The Eagle-dam, located 100 miles north of El Paso, on the Rio Grande, the building of which has already been started, will create, it is claimed, the largest storage reservoir in the world. The dam is to be 265 feet high and 1,400 feet long on top. It will flood an area of 48,000 acres to an average depth of sixty-two feet and will furnish water for the irrigation of 180,000 acres of land.

Patent stump pullers operated by steam have been invented, and many of them are now being used to clear the cut over pine lands of northern Michigan and Wisconsin. The derelict hoist principle is employed in them, and it is said they will pull and pile from two to three acres of stumps in a day. Many thousands of acres of this land are rich and fertile, well suited to general farming, fruit growing, etc., and the new puller is bound to be an improvement over the tedious and expensive methods of clearing land which have prevailed in the past.

There is a very strict social regulation among seals that a mother shall furnish sustenance only to her own young, and because of this every year thousands of baby seals, left motherless by the sealskin traders, perish by starvation. This condition, which threatened extermination of the seals, has been remedied by the discovery of Boatswain J. Thurbur of the United States revenue cutter Bear, who has found that by snapping a ligament in the mouths of the young seals and working their gums to aid in the growth of their teeth they can eat solid food and that under this treatment the little fellows thrive very well.

The man who is wise will not only take the precaution of driving a team which he thinks of purchasing for work on the farm, but will insist on the privilege of working them a little before closing the deal. If the owner of the team objects to this arrangement pass them up, for the team may be sound as a dollar, but possess some peculiarity or meanness of disposition which would render them practically worthless as a work team. Neither ability to travel nor good looks cut much figure when a fellow is dead anxious to rush his spring plowing and has to spend half his time trying to coax a balky horse to work. And it is certainly exhaustive of a man's store of piety and patience.

In spite of the vigilance and warnings of the postoffice inspectors, it is estimated that about $50,000 a day is sent to New York city to sharpers who have been selling blue sky to a lot of gullible folks—in other words, selling their stock in mining, oil or other wildcat investment schemes on the strength of outlandish returns on the money invested. The majority of the victims are clerks, schoolteachers and preachers. Anybody laying claim to a fair amount of gray matter will not bite on any investment scheme which promises a larger interest return than 8 or 10 per cent. Another thing that investors would do well to remember is that bona fide investment concerns are not hawked their stock in advertisements at from 10 to 30 cents on the dollar.

As a result of experiments which have been carried on for the past seven years by the federal department of agriculture along the line of acclimatizing and breeding Egyptian cotton from imported seed of the variety known as Mit Afrit two or three types have been developed which give much promise, possessing as much individuality of plant, boll and fiber as never varieties which have been developed in the Egyptian plant breeding experiments. The experimental work which has been carried on has been the result of a desire to produce in this country this high grade type of Egyptian cotton, 72,617,893 pounds of which were imported during 1909 at a cost of $12,101,000 and which is used solely in the manufacture of the finest goods.

Many mercerized and pure silk stains in which finish and luster are desired. Samples of the acclimatized Egyptian fiber grown last year in the southwest have been pronounced by American spinners to be in every respect equal to the Egyptian grown article of corresponding grades. The details of these experiments are given in bulletin 200, issued recently by the bureau of plant industry.

If plans afoot are carried out the school children of Kansas City, Mo., will assist in the planting of 100,000 catalpa trees on Arbor day, which was instituted by J. Sterling Morton, a former secretary of agriculture. This planting will have value not only because the trees need planting, but because the little people will thus have a greater interest aroused in a very practical and helpful form of conservation.

The Price-Campbell cotton picking machine, which was operated successfully on a number of southern plantations last season, is said to possess an almost human ingenuity, its steel fingers selecting the ripe from the unripe bolls and reaching beneath the branches and getting bolls that are hidden. A comparison of the hand and machine picked cotton at the mill shows that the latter contains less waste than the former, while in the field the machine picks as clean as the average negro help. In amount the new picker does the work in a day of from twenty to thirty hands.

Until a few years ago the bulk of the world's supply of sulphur was got from the vicinity of the Italian volcanoes, but today the greater part comes from beneath the prairies of Louisiana, and only hot water and compressed air are used in the mining process. The Italian sulphur in its natural state contains 50 per cent of impurities, but the Louisiana product tests 99 per cent. Boiling water is forced down the space between the ten and six inch pipes which extend to the bed. This turns the sulphur to a liquid, and it is then pumped up through the smaller pipes by means of compressed air and flows into vats 50 feet long, 250 feet wide and 40 feet deep. Here it cools and hardens and when desired for shipment is broken up with hand picks and shoveled into cars like coal. Some of the wells in the section mentioned produce 500 tons daily.

There is probably no product or by-product of the farm that furnishes protein in a more palatable or valuable form than skim milk. Especially is this the case when considering rations for calves, pigs and poultry. It is because of this fact that dairymen have so much to commend it as a type of farming and why hog raising dovetails in with it so nicely as a profitable side line. Under such system of management there is carried out very simply and effectively a type of conservation which means more to the permanent welfare of the country than any of the somewhat spectacular and faraway but no less worthy forms of "conservation" which are just now engaging public attention. Dairymen means conservation of soil fertility for the simple reason that with a ton of butter worth $300 there is removed from the farm but 50 cents' worth of fertilizing elements, while in the case of raw products like corn, oats and wheat it runs from $12 to $16 worth.

There have been frequent references in horticultural literature during the past two or three years about ever-bearing strawberries, but nothing that seemed to give much promise that they would amount to anything. However, the recent experience of a Polish (N. Y.) grower with the new variety seems to indicate that it is something more than a curiosity. He got three pickings of berries after Aug. 15 last, which averaged more than 600 quarts to the acre and brought him 25 cents per quart. The fall or ever-bearing strawberry, as it is known, differs from the common varieties in the one respect that it blossoms continuously from June until November. One crop is matured at the usual time in June, and the second crop may be secured by pinching off all blossoms about three weeks before it is desired to have the fruit ripen, when all of the strength of the vines is diverted to the half grown fruit. Those who have tasted the fall matured fruit state that it has fully as fine a flavor as the June product.

One of the best propositions we noticed listed for sale in a recent auction was a flock of forty pure bred Shropshires. We say best because there was nothing else on the list which put to its best possible use would do so much good to the man who bought it as these sheep. Rightly handled they will give an easier return than any other resource on the farm. For at least seven months in the year they will get their living from the weeds on the farm, which are worse than useless; will convert this into fertilizer, which every farm needs, in much larger quantities than it gets, while the lambs can be finished for market in a comparatively short time. The wool fetches a high price and will add a snug sum to the bank account. It is better to start with twenty sheep than sixty and get experience as one goes along, which if unfavorable doesn't come in as big chunks.

In a general way that type of farming has most to commend it from the standpoint of the welfare of the soil and the owner of it in which the amount paid to railroads for transportation of products is reduced to a minimum. It is because of this fact that raising hogs, sheep and cattle is a better type of farming than grain selling and why butter production is better than either. With grain the value of the shipment is from a cent to a cent and a half a pound, with stock 5 to 10 cents and with butter 25 to 35 cents. Not only this, but the amount of fertilizer removed from the farm is in a quite accurate indirect ratio to the value per pound of the product shipped. There is something in the above facts that the general farmer might well take note of.

While the lime-sulphur mixture is being used by many orchardists as a substitute for the bordeaux in the fighting of fungous diseases, the former is still the standby of the majority. For the benefit of those who have not used it we give the following brief directions for making: Dissolve five pounds of copper sulphate (blue vitriol) in a tobacco pail nearly full of water the evening before the solution is to be made. Next slake five pounds of fresh stone lime, using care to pour on sufficient water and to keep it stirred to prevent burning. This slaking of the lime may also be done the day before one intends to use the solution. When ready to mix dilute the bluestone solution to twenty-five gallons in a fifty gallon vinegar barrel; also dilute the lime as far as practicable in the receptacle in which it was slaked and pour slowly into the larger barrel containing the bluestone, stirring the while. If all of the lime is taken up by the first water applied, all right; if not, add more and stir thoroughly so all of the lime will be dissolved. Pour this into the big barrel and add enough more water to make fifty gallons. This gives what is called the 5-5-50 solution. Before using the mixture should be tested to see if there is an excess of lime by adding a few drops of prussiate of potash solution (a deadly poison) to a small quantity of the solution. If a chocolate colored precipitate is made it means the solution is acid and more lime should be added. A considerable excess of lime does no harm, and it is well to be on the safe side. The directions above given are for the preparation of a limited quantity of the solution for use in a hand spraying outfit, with a tank containing twenty to thirty gallons.

If a power outfit, with 150 or 200 gallon tank is used, a stock solution of the bluestone should be kept, made by suspending in a small tank or barrel containing two or three pails of water more bluestone crystals than will dissolve. This gives what is called a saturated solution, one gallon of which contains about three pounds of bluestone; hence to make fifty gallons of the mixture take one and two-thirds gallons of the bluestone solution and for 100 gallons of mixture three and one-third gallons, and so on. Likewise in the case of the lime a larger quantity will need to be slaked and may be kept covered with water between spraying intervals. In making up the larger quantities of the spray mixture the same rule should be followed in testing with the prussiate of potash to insure an excess of lime. In putting into the spray tank, whether large or small, the solution should be strained through a brass strainer or a couple of thicknesses of gummy sacking. The most effective

Edelweiss For Kongo.
A very charming custom has been inaugurated in Belgium to honor the birthday of Queen Elizabeth. Her last anniversary was made "rose day," and the sale of the queen's birthday roses realized $20,000, which was given to the tuberculosis relief fund.

The queen has now issued a semi-official proclamation in which she announces that it is her royal pleasure that on her next birthday the edelweiss shall be substituted for the rose and that all the money raised from the sale of these blossoms shall be devoted to the fund for combating the sleeping sickness in the Kongo.

One of the darkest stains on Leopold's reign was that known as the "Kongo atrocities." One of the chief efforts of King Albert is to show an honest intention to remove that stain. In this effort the queen plays a charming second.

Ribbon Lore.
Black and white striped ribbons are shown in both velvet and taffeta, with black velvet stripes on a white taffeta ground. Black satin stripes are shown on white taffeta also.

Faille ribbon is being used much by milliners, especially in black and white combinations. Warp and jacquard prints are also seen everywhere, most of all in the lighter colored patterns. Finally black and white checked taffetas are much in vogue in Paris. Sometimes the stripes running one way are in satin woven into the taffeta. In other words, although not a great number of ribbons are shown, those that we do have are beautiful and elaborate in weave and design.

Cotton Crop Worth Much Money.
Last year's American cotton crop was valued at $683,000,000, and if the value of the seed be added, the aggregate revenue from the crop was very close up to $800,000,000. If the present prices for the staple hold, the value of this year's cotton crop including the seed will mount up very near to $1,000,000,000, at any rate to more than $900,000,000.—New York Commercial.

Prayer Ten Centuries Old.

Among the documents and manuscripts taken by the Pelliot Mission of France from a cave in Chinese Turkestan, where they had lain during ten centuries, is a curious manuscript recorded by the French Academy of Sciences. The manuscript is in one of the oldest known Hebrew texts. It is a prayer formed of passages taken from the Psalms and from the prophets, written in beautiful square Hebrew, with a very rudimentary system of vocalization. Evidently the manuscript was carried on the person of the man who owned it. Hebrew scholars believe that the document dates from the eighth or ninth century of the Christian era; and that it belonged to a pious Jewish merchant of Arabia. No such prayer was known in Arabia in either the eighth or the ninth century, therefore it is supposed that the manuscript was transcribed for its owner when he was in China, where such prayer was to be found.—Harper's Weekly.

MONEY BACK

Hyomei Cures Catarrh Without Stomach Dosing, or Money Back.

Yes, dear reader, catarrh can be cured, but not by pouring vile, nauseating drugs into the stomach. And catarrh germs thrive, flourish and multiply in the nose and throat.

Can you kill these tough and persistent little health destroyers by swallowing pills or nostrum? Any physician will tell you it cannot be done.

HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) is a germ killing vaporized air which, when breathed either through the mouth or nose, will kill catarrh germs and soothe and heal the inflamed and mutilated membrane promptly. It gives relief in two minutes.

HYOMEI is such a powerful germ destroyer that it penetrates every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

A complete outfit, which includes inhaler, a bottle of HYOMEI and simple instructions for use, costs $1.00.

Should you need a second bottle of HYOMEI the price is only 50c. Duane Spaulbury and leading druggists everywhere sell HYOMEI.

MAINE CAUSES BIG SHAVE.

Texan Loses Thirty Years' Beard When Democrats Win.

The result of the Maine election has had its effect in Texas. Jap Skein, a well known citizen of Corpus Christi, was so firm in the belief when Maine elected a Democratic governor thirty years ago that the state would continue in the Democratic column that he made a solemn vow he would never have his hair cut until it again went Democratic.

He kept his pledge. His flowing locks, sixteen inches long, gave him a picturesque and venerable appearance. When news of the result in Maine reached him he went at once to a barber and was shorn to the scalp.

The locks were made into a braid and are on exhibition in the show window of a business house attached to a placard upon which the following is written:

This braid of hair from Jap Skein's head shows Jap was quite erratic. Long years ago a pledge he made. "I'll never cut my hair," he said, "Till Maine goes Democratic."

Canadian Fur Exports Large.
In 1909, it is estimated, furs worth $12,000,000 were shipped from the western provinces of Canada to the United States and England.

Alpine Club Is Large.
The German and Austrian Alpine society now has 88,450 members.

Smuggled Bracelet in Photograph.
Of smuggling tricks there is no end. The Bangor (Me.) customs officials had a new dodge sprung on them one day recently in an attempt to get a gold bracelet through without the payment of duty.

Some one took a number of cabinet photographs, but before tying them together to make them appear as a bundle of photos he carefully hollowed out a hole in the center and deposited the bracelet therein. A superficial examination of the package would have caused one to think that it was simply a bundle of photographs and allowed it to proceed without question.

GOING TO MORNING SERVICE

Some of the Things a Woman Has to Do Before She Gets Started.

After a woman has done up the Sunday morning work, cleaned the children and gotten dinner under way so that it will not take so long upon her return, put on her hat, and given final instructions to her husband about watching the children, and kissed them all good-bye, she finds when she reaches the corner that she has still another task to perform. She must chase the dog back home. "Go back," she screams, waving her prayer book at him. The dog stops. "Go back, I say," she says, stamping her foot. The dog looks hurt. Then she starts toward it, and the dog turns as if it never intended to stop going the other way.

The woman starts again for church, goes a few steps and then turns around in sudden suspicion to find the dog just behind her, as happy and hopeful of winning her approval as when he first sets out. The woman rages. She throws stones which never hit him, and the dog flees, and is soon out of sight. But he is only behind the next stone wall peering after her, and when he sees that she is again on her way, he loopes after her, with his calm undisturbed. This time, when the woman sees him, she turns home in despair.

"You'll just have to keep this dog home," she says, rushing into the house. "I don't see what you keep the horrid brute for, anyway."

The husband calls the dog in, and the dog knows there is no fooling with his master, and obeys. And he knows also that by his master his attentions are never misunderstood. It would spoil the church services for the woman if she knew that there is a sympathy between a man and a dog never so apparent as when they are left in this way together on a Sunday morning.—Atlanta Constitution.

FIRST OF ENCYCLOPEDIAS

It Was Published in Queen Anne's Reign and John Harris Was Its "Onlie Begetter."

Encyclopedias are an English invention. I hasten to add that they owe a great deal of their early and later development to Scottish brains. The earliest true encyclopedia was published in the second year of Queen Anne. John Harris, the "onlie begetter" of this remarkable work, was born in the year of the great fire of London, and Shropshire plausibly claims that he was a Shropshire lad. He passed through Oxford to the vicarage of Ickleham, Sussex, to which he added the care of Winchelsea parish. London preferments followed, and a Fellowship of the Royal Society, and a good deal of London religious controversy. For the rest, we know that Harris lived in a house in Amen Corner, and that he there received and boarded pupils. We know also that he gave free lectures in mathematics at the Marine Coffee House in Birch Lane. The Marine Coffee House has not been much noticed by London topographers. Mr. H. B. Wheatley has unearthed a curious advertisement proclaiming that water gruel was to be had there every morning from six to eleven o'clock. The announcement proceeds: "Tis not yet generally known; but there comes such company as drinks usually four or five gallons in a morning."—John o' London in T. P.'s Weekly, London.

If all of the railroads of the country have as large "car repair" bills as are being brought to light in the present Illinois Central graft inquiry and these have been systematically charged up to "operating expenses," it is not surprising perhaps that the farmers and other originators of freight are asked for an increase in transportation charges.

On Nov. 30 there will be thrown open for entry in Alabama a considerable portion of land which was withdrawn in the year 1908 in the creation of the Alabama national forest. A portion of the total area has been appropriated under existing land laws, while other portions of considerable extent will be withheld from entry because supposed to be underlain with valuable mineral deposits.

That the tendency of corn to sucker is due more to inherited tendency than to character of soil was nicely shown this season in the case of two varieties of corn which were planted side by side on the same soil and at the same time on the writer's ranch. One variety which was home grown was almost entirely free from the sucker forming tendency, while the other, an imported pedigree seed, produced from two to four suckers for each stalk.

Not Another Methuselah.

In an ancient burying ground at Germantown, Pa., there is a stone standing over a grave, on which is inscribed: "In memory of Adam Shisler, who departed this life December 23, 1777. Aged 969 years." This inscription never fails to startle the stranger seeing it for the first time, who thinks, perhaps, it is the record of a latter-day Methuselah, but the fact is, Shisler died when he was sixty-nine years old. The stone cutter got his instructions mixed, and he carved "96" as indicating the years Shisler had lived. Discovering his mistake, and possibly not willing to suffer loss of labor, he effaced the "9" with cement, and added another "6" after the "6," which would make the inscription read "69 years." After a time the cement fell away, and then the figures "969" were left to tell their misleading story.

Nebraska Deposits Guaranteed.

Lincoln, Neb., March 31.—The bank guaranty has become effective in Nebraska when the mandate of the United States supreme court was received. This mandate reverses the decision of Judges Munger and Vandervanter and puts into operation the act guaranteeing bank deposits which was passed two years ago.

Gladstone and the Heckler.

Mr. Gladstone was altogether intolerant of the heckler. During his last Midlothian campaign he was questioned by Sir, then Mr. John Usher of Norton, who had once been Gladstone's chairman of committee, on the subject of the Irish proposals, which sundered so many political friendships. To one or two inquiries a curt reply was given. "Am I to understand?"—Mr. Usher was beginning. "Understand!" The old statesman leaped to his feet. "I am responsible for the understanding that the Almighty has put in this skull of mine," tapping his forehead. "I am not responsible," pointing his finger at the questioner, "for the understanding that he has put in that skull of yours." The effect of this rebuke was overwhelming. Mr. Usher sank speechless to his seat.

MOTHERS' DAY

of mothers love and how beautiful to think that this is a picture of God's love for the fallen race. A little child said fearfully and with deep misgivings, 'I wish God was as good and kind as my papa' why, God is gentle and loving and kind as a mother and that goes a step farther into the gracious heart of the Infinite. Mark Guy Pearse says with logic and strong common sense, 'It is reasonable to truth the power that made a mother.' When Thomas Carlyle was aged and feeble and burdened with the weight of years and left lonely by the death of his wife, talking one day with a friend about his weakness and his desolation the old man burst forth in a tremendous voice that was half humor and half a sob and he said, 'It's a mother that I want.' How that quaint Scotch song answers the pathetic need of such a life or any life which needs the blessing of comforting.

'Like a bairn to its mother, a wee birdie to its nest.

I would fain be gauging noo unto my Saviors breast;

For He gathers in his bosom witless, worthless lambs like me

And he carries them himself to his ain countrie.

"Good men, who have done much for humanity, have often spoken of the influence of a Christian mother over their lives. Grover Cleveland, on the eve of his election to the governorship of the State of New York, wrote to his brother: 'I have just voted and I sit here in the office, alone. If mother were alive I should be writing to her and I feel as if it were time for me to write to some one who will believe what I write.' " Do you know that if mother were alive I should feel so much safer. I have always thought her prayers had much to do with my successes. I shall expect you to help me in that way."

"A friend called at the parsonage this week and left for the pastor these lines which he had written in commemoration of the 70th birthday of his mother and had published as a kind of a birthday surprise to her. The lines I think have not only the ring of true filial love but the touch of a real poetic genius upon them:

MY MOTHER.
She gave the best years of her life
With joy for me.
And robbed herself with loving heart Untrusting.
For me with willing hands she toiled From day to day.
For me she prayed when heartstrong youth Would have its way.
Her gentle arms, my cradle once Are weary now.
And Time has set the seal of care Upon her brow.
And though no other eyes than mine
Their meanings trace,
I read my history in the lines Of her dear face.
And 'mid His gems who showers gifts As shining sands,
I count her days as pearls that fall
From His kind hands.—Milton Murdock in Boston Register.

The Ocean.

Of all natural stores of water the ocean is, of course, the most abundant, and from it all other water may be said to be derived. From the surface of the ocean a continuous stream of vapor is rising up with the atmosphere, to be recondensed in the upper regions and precipitated as rain, snow and sleet. Some eight-elevenths of these precipitates return directly to the ocean; the rest, falling on land, collects into pools, lakes, rivers, or else penetrates the earth, perhaps to come to light again in springs and wells.
